I would like to challenge all of us to be more involved with TTA, and commit to creating a cohesive group that together will have more power to move our initiatives forward.

Sincerely,

New 35-Foot, Low-Floor Diesel Buses Unveiled During Public Ribbon Cutting Ceremony

Waco Transit System recently introduced five new state-of-the-art buses into its fleet and revealed them to the public during a ribbon cutting ceremony at the WTS bus terminal on May 22. Many city officials were in attendance, including Mayor Kyle Deaver, Assistant City Manager Deidra Emerson, and Councilman John Kinnaird. “The new buses are heavy duty and reflect the highest quality available in the market,” said John Hendrickson, Waco Transit System General Manager. “In moving forward with this investment, we’ll be able to accommodate higher ridership levels and enhance passenger safety and comfort, for a more enjoyable ride.” New Flyer Industries, the manufacturer of the new buses, designed and built the vehicles in St. Cloud, Minnesota. These buses have already hit the streets in June, the new buses will help support and maintain Waco Transit System’s current level of service, as well as support future growth.

Dallas County Community College District Continues Partnership with DART to Provide Transit Passes to Students

DART and the Dallas County Community College District are cutting students' transportation costs and making it easier for them to get to class with a free DART pass.

Last year, DCCCD's Board of Trustees approved investing $1.2 million in the program to provide a free DART pass to eligible students at all DCCCD colleges through DART's Higher Education Pass Program. The network of seven community colleges will continue offering the passes in the 2018/2019 school year.

"Transportation is a big barrier for many of our students, and our partnership with DART to provide a Student GoPass to those who are eligible is one way to remove that obstacle," said Dr. Joe May, DCCCD's chancellor.

To qualify, students must enroll in six or more credit hours for either the fall or spring semester, and they must enroll in three or more credit hours during the summer semester.

Continuing education students attending any of DCCCD's colleges also can obtain the free DART Student GoPass. They must enroll in 96 or more contact hours for either the fall or spring semester or 48 or more contact hours for the summer semester.
